American-Filipino Defenders Repulse Japanese Thrusts

Heavy Attacks From Air On Forts of U. S.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—(P)—General Douglas MacArthur reported today his troops on Bataan peninsula in the Philippines repulsed new attacks by the Japanese while the Manila bay fortifications silenced several enemy big gun shore batteries on the Cavite shore.

A War Department communiqué said heavy infantry fighting had occurred at several points on the peninsula with hostile dive bombers active overhead, but all attacks were repulsed by the American-Filipino defenders.

In the duel between the Corregidor string of fortifications at the entrance to Manila bay and the hidden Japanese guns which have been bombarding the forts for several days, the forts' guns scored several direct hits on enemy batteries.

Fighting More Intense
The text of the War Department's communiqué—number 98—of the war—based on reports received here up to 8:30 a. m. C. S. War Time today:

"1. The Philippine theater: 'Some of the concealed enemy batteries which have been firing on our harbor defenses from the Cavite shore have been located and attacked by counter-battery fire from our forts. Several direct hits were observed and some of the enemy batteries were silenced.'

"Heavy infantry fighting occurred intermittently at various points in the Bataan peninsula. The enemy made several attempts at penetration and infiltration. All attacks were repulsed by our troops.

"Hostile dive bombers were active over our lines.

"2. There is nothing to report from other areas."

Yesterday General MacArthur had reported:

"Fighting is increasing in intensity on our left."

This and today's communiqué indicated that the new Japanese offensive was developing in the Philippines.

Synchronized with the renewed pressure on the Bataan front was the systematic bombardment of the American forts which still bar the entrance of Manila bay to Japanese naval forces.

Enemy land batteries, firing methodically every four minutes, threw big shells for the second successive day at the island fortifications which command the harbor's mouth.

Heavy Aerial Assaults

On the Bataan peninsula, MacArthur's report to Washington yesterday told of Japanese pressure on both the right and left flank of his line, accompanied by twenty-four hours of heavy aerial bombardment of the American-Filipino positions.

The Japanese, the War Department communiqué disclosed, gained some ground in an infiltration thrust against MacArthur's right, which is anchored on Manila bay. The enemy, however, was thrown back in sharp counter-attack.

Details of the heavy fighting on the left, or China sea, flank were not disclosed, but it is on that side of the peninsula that the Japanese have been using suicide detachments in a costly and futile attempt to turn MacArthur's line.

Brigadier General Clinton Pierce commended Saturday on the sacrifice nature of such operations when he talked to Clark Lee, the Associated Press correspondent on Bataan with MacArthur's army.

Pierce, who had a toe shot off by a Japanese sniper the other day, rated the enemy troops used for the flank attacks as even more formidable than the seasoned units which the Japanese have used for their major attacks on MacArthur as he fell back successfully to the peninsula stronghold, frustrating enemy attempts to annihilate his army.

War Saving Time To Full Stride Tuesday

Some Late To Work and Others Are Up Too Early

As Lil' Abner says, "It's amoo-in' but it's also confusin'," this change to the new war time, tomorrow will be fine and everything will be as usual, but today there are some complications.

There is the grocery boy whose mother didn't turn the clocks up an hour Sunday night before she went to bed, and who reported for work one hour late this morning.

There is the woman who set her clock up an hour, then worrying lest she might not be right, got up an hour earlier, and consequently she reported for work at 7 o'clock instead of 8 o'clock.

There is the man who got up at the usual hour—war time—went to the door to put the dog out, and the dog refused to leave, thinking he was being put out in the middle of the night.

There is the girl who set her clock up an hour, set the alarm back an hour, and who was up two hours before her usual rising time.

Daughter Late To Work
In one home where the mother always awakens without an alarm clock and calls her daughter, mother slept right through until she heard the 8 o'clock whistle.

According to sun time that was her time to get up. Daughter was late for work.

Residents heard the Katy flyer whistle in and out of town a little after 7:30 o'clock. "The train is late" they thought. Then they realized time had changed and an hour had been lost. From about New Franklin, when the watches of the train crew had been changed, the train ran an hour late. Tuesday it will be all right and running on regular schedule.

The change, as a whole, was made without any difficulties. In the schools it was said there were few tardies, even though it was almost dark when some of the children left home.

Clock Be Adjusted
It was a little confusing this morning when one glanced at the clock on the court house, because it had not been changed. The clock had not been keeping perfect time lately, said one member of the county court, and that will be adjusted, as well as the hands moved up an hour by Vest Ritchey, who looks after the timepiece.

Leo Lennartz, manager of the Western Union, changed the hands on the master clock in his office after he came to work this morning, about 7 o'clock.

Missouri Pacific train No. 10, east bound, came in on time and left an hour late. It just "hesitates" upon its arrival here, and is due to leave at 2:05. Train crews changed their watches while here, and the train whistled out at 3:05, running an hour late from that time on into St. Louis. It will be on time Tuesday morning, leaving at 2:05 war time.

Signs Navy Bill Asks Billions For The Army

Emergency Fund Sought For Its Various Branches

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(P)—President Roosevelt asked Congress today for emergency appropriations totaling $22,888,901,900 for various branches of the army shortly after he had signed a $26,495,265,474 appropriation for the American navy.

At the same time, he requested an appropriation of $1,502,000,000 for construction of vessels by the Maritime Commission and contract authority for an additional $2,350,000,000.

Mr. Roosevelt submitted to Congress letters from Budget Director Harold D. Smith proposing the new expenditures. The president noted that he concurred with Smith's observations.

Largest of the army items was $13,252,200,000 for "ordnance service and supplies." Neither this nor any other item carried any detailed explanation. Smith said the purpose was "to provide additional requirements for the prosecution of the war."

Other army items included $3,011,512,000 for the office of the secretary of war in "expediting production"; $3,391,166,900 for the quartermaster corps, including army subsistence, supplies, clothing and equipment, transportation, horses and pack animals; $1,349,000,000 for the signal corps; $167,440,000 for the air corps; $171,178,000 for the medical department; $1,226,300,000 for the corps of engineers; $288,336,000 for the chemical warfare service; and $31,769,000 for seacoast defenses.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(P)—A $26,495,265,474 appropriation bill, the largest in the history of any nation, and carrying funds for America's growing navy was signed today by President Roosevelt.

The measure, providing both cash and contract, authorizations, contemplates adding approximately 25,000 airplanes to the navy's sky force and enlarging the fleet for waging war in two oceans at once.

To Build New Ships
The legislation also makes available $8,000,000,000 for the construction of war vessels ranging from battleships to torpedo boats and allocates another $5,000,000,000 for naval guns and ammunition.

The additional aircraft provided in the bill raises to a total of 100,000 the number for army use for which congress has appropriated funds in the last 19 months.

The measure also authorizes the president to lend or lease any of 1,799 small vessels, for which approximately $3,900,000,000 was appropriated, as well as any other naval equipment up to a total of $2,500,000,000.

The unprecedented appropriation bill received final congressional approval Thursday.

Is Executed For Double Murder

McALESTER, Okla., Feb. 9.—(P)—J. D. Tuggle, 23, died in the McAlester penitentiary electric chair today for the murder of his aunt and uncle.

The blue-eyed, sandy-haired farm youth walked into the execution with his guards calmly puffing on a cigar.

He pleaded guilty to bludgeoning Mr. and Mrs. D. Wilburn Jones to death at their farm home the night of May 9, 1940.

The youth told the court the slayings resulted from his uncle's objection to Tuggle's advances to a ten-year-old half sister.

Speaks Here

F. C. Havighurst

Minister living in Marshall, who lived in China for several years, and who spoke interestingly on that country at the meeting of Rotarians today.

'Chinese Faith In U. S. Tested'

Rev. Havighurst Gives An Address To Rotary Club

"China's faith in the United States was severely tested by our sale of oil and scrap iron to Japan, when we knew they would be used in bombing raids on China," Rev. F. C. Havighurst, of Marshall, district superintendent of the Sedalia-Marshall district for the Methodist church, told members of the Rotary club, addressing their luncheon meeting at Hotel Bothwell today.

Rev. Havighurst knows conditions in China. He was president of the Anglo-Chinese College, Foochow, China, from 1920 to 1932, two of his three children were born in China and the third was a baby when the parents went to that country. The two older children attended a Chinese kindergarten. His talk was most interesting to his hearers.

"Likewise," he said, "China's faith in England was shaken by England's readiness to close the Burma road and to recognize North China as Japanese territory in an effort to appease Japan. China's faith in her two friends is being tested again by their failure to stop the present Japanese advance in the South Seas."

Would Extend Aid

"The easy Japanese victories at Pearl Harbor, Hong Kong, and Manila are causing many Chinese to wonder if it would not be wise to accept the favorable peace terms which Japan is now ready to offer China, in order to free her troops there for use in the conquest of the East Indies. Well may we Americans follow the example of our government's recent action in voting $500,000,000 for China," he continued, "by showing in every way possible our friendship and devotion to China."

"Our gifts to China relief and the sacrificial service of our American missionaries to the Chinese refugees fortunately stand out in sharp contrast, not only to the destruction of Chinese schools and the bombing of Chinese civilians by Japanese soldiers, but also to the ruthless exploitation already being carried on by the Japanese 'carpet-baggers' and racketeers who have followed their invading army into China," said Mr. Havighurst.

The speaker was introduced by Dr. W. E. Pearl, program chairman for the meeting.

L. C. Yunker First To Register

The first person in Pettis county to register under the third selective service registration was L. C. Yunker, young Sedalia druggist, who went to the court house this morning and asked permission to fill out his papers.

"No, I'm not going to be out of town, for the regular registration days," he told a reporter, "I'll be right here, but I just wanted to get it out of the way."

The three days set aside for registration are Friday and Saturday, February 13 and 14, at the court house from 8 A. M. to 5 P. M., and Monday, February 16, from 7 a. m. to 9 p. m.

A number of men who will be out of town for the weekend have asked permission to register before they go, which may be done now at any time because the supplies arrived this morning.

Registration, however, may be done in any city or town, and Pettis county designated as their home, and the card will be sent back here.

Thousands Get Tax Refunds

Modest Sized Sum Goes To Defender Of Philippines

BY A. H. SINGLETON
WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(P)—Having tax troubles?

Here's consolation—the government had them, too, during the fiscal year of 1941.

And those particular woes provided cheery news to thousands who dug too deep in paying past levies, and, as a result of over-assessments were refunded a total of $54,000,883.

If General MacArthur is not too preoccupied with other matters, his name appeared for a modest-sized refund.

In a bulky document turned over today for law-required inspection by Congress, the Internal Revenue Bureau listed the names of those who paid more than their share and the amounts of their refunds.

Deep in the list was the name of Douglas MacArthur, now holding Bataan peninsula against the Japanese invaders of the Philippines. The bureau reported it had sent the general its check for $629.66, as executor for the estate of Mary P. MacArthur, his mother.

The refunds went out to taxpayers in widely-varied walks of life—stars of the stage and screen, the socially prominent statesmen, singers, men prominent in high finance, diplomats, industrialists, sports promoters, publishers, bankers and authors.

Larger Refunds

The largest individual refund—two checks totalling $253,947—went to George P. Jones, Chicago industrialist, while Arthur Curtis James, New York railroad executive, was second with $185,000, and Aldus C. Higgins, Massachusetts industrialist, third with $148,135.32.

The largest refund for income and miscellaneous taxes was turned over to the Metropolitan Life Insurance company of New York City, a total of $1,814,364.99, while the New York Life Insurance company recovered $1,479,704.20 and the Brown and Williamson Tobacco company of Louisville, Ky., and Petersburg, Va., recovered $1,324,407.56.

Perhaps they wouldn't have missed it, but:

Protest On Riots At Tangier

LONDON, Feb. 9.—(P)—The British consul general in Tangier has lodged a strong protest with General Uriarte, commander of the Spanish forces, because of "axis inspired" riots Saturday.

An authoritative source said the protest was made immediately after the riot took place. Spanish troops were sent to the scene and peace was restored.

This source said the attention of the Spanish government probably would be drawn to these axis attempts to embitter relations between Britain and Spain and that the question of compensation for damage no doubt would be raised.

Throttle Riotous Factions

MADRID, Feb. 9.—(P)—Riotous factions in Tangier were kept throttled by Spanish Morocco authorities under martial law today after the latest in a chain of mysterious, violent events laid to competition of Britain and Germany for Arab support in the Mediterranean war zone.

The outbreak was touched off by the explosion Friday of a time bomb in a taxi loaded with diplomatic baggage on a crowded Tangier pier.

The violent blast killed 14 persons; several others among 36 wounded are believed to be dying. The explosion destroyed the taxi, two other automobiles, part of the pier and the customs house.

First Air Raid On Batavia By The Japanese

Considered As A Prelude In Effort To Invade Java

BATAVIA, N.E.L., Feb. 9.—(P)—Japanese planes made their first raid of the Pacific war on Batavia, capital of the Netherlands East Indies, today in an intensifying series of air attacks believed here to be a prelude to an attempt at invasion of Java, center of the United Nations' resistance to the Japanese in the southwest Pacific.

The raid, carried out by six to eight Japanese fighters, was directed mainly at Kemajoran and Tjililitan airdromes near Batavia. Aneta news agency said. The attacks were limited to machine-gunning and no bombs were dropped. Streets in the capital and its suburbs were also strafed.

"Some damage" was done to army planes at Kemajoran and two passenger planes were damaged. A special communiqué said two civilians were seriously wounded and nine slightly hurt. At least one and possible two of the raiders were shot down.

Japanese efforts to attack the harbor were turned back by heavy anti-aircraft fire.

Enemy activity also was reported over other parts of Java, Sumatra and Borneo.

Oil Center Bombed

Palembang, oil center in southeast Sumatra, was bombed again but the communiqué said there were no allied losses.

At least two and probably three enemy planes were shot down over the great naval base of Soerabaja Saturday.

The attack on Batavia began during lunch time after two days of Japanese reconnaissance flights and a long series of alarms during previous days. The all-clear sounded an hour and a half later.

Anti-aircraft batteries went into action immediately after Japanese planes were sighted and later Dutch fighters took to the air and engaged the attackers in dog-fights.

Aneta said 51 persons were reported killed and 54 injured in Sunday's raid on Soerabaja, chief naval base of the Indies. The largest number of casualties occurred when a direct hit was scored on a street car under which a large number of natives had taken shelter.

In Sounder Position

RANGOON, Burma, Feb. 9.—(P)—Crack Chinese fighters and fresh Indian troops bolstered the British on the Salween river front today where Japan's drive toward Rangoon and China's last gateway to the sea was stalled in northern Burma and, possibly, broken.

The "reasoned optimism" which bought the shells.

Watson To Face Assault Charge

Julius "Bud" Watson, of LaMonte, who created considerable excitement in the downtown district Saturday afternoon when he shot and wounded his brother-in-law, Virgil Hansbrough, will be charged with felonious assault with intent to kill, L. J. Harned, prosecuting attorney said today.

The warrant will be issued this evening by Police Judge C. W. Bente, on an information filed by Harned.

Watson has been held in the county jail. He will be permitted to be released on bond, the prosecuting attorney said.

Hansbrough suffered, what is now believed only a skin wound, and he was able to leave the hospital this afternoon and return to his home in LaMonte.

Watson, officers state, is extremely sorry for the shooting. They state he has never been in any trouble before, to their knowledge.

He told police officers that he purchased the gun after coming to Sedalia Saturday afternoon.

Thomas H. Shock Weds A Texas Girl By Proxy

Thomas Henry Shock, of Guira, Venezuela, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Shock of LaFeria, Tex., and grandson of Mrs. Henry Liest, of Sedalia, was married by proxy, February 1, to Miss Cordelia Olivia McMahon, of McAllen, Tex.

Tom, well known in Sedalia, where he has frequently visited, is industrial relations counsel for the Standard Oil companies of eastern Venezuela. It was impossible for him to come to the United States at this time, and his fiancée was not permitted, by the oil company, to go to Venezuela except as his wife, so the proxy marriage was arranged by Tom's father, who has his power of attorney.

Giant Vessel, LaFayette, Is Ablaze At Pier

Upper Deck Of Once Normandie Swept By Flames

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—(P)—A quickly-spreading, stubborn fire swept the giant former French liner Normandie at her Hudson river pier today, reportedly trapping 200 workmen below decks.

Another score of men, among an estimated 2,500 to 3,000 workmen aboard her, were injured and treated at the scene.

The 200 men were reported trapped despite the sounding of the vessel's fire alarm system and firemen were reported to be cutting through the bow of the ship to get at the lower decks.

Most of the lower portholes were closed, but smoke poured through the open upper ones.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—(P)—A disastrous fire swept the huge former French liner Normandie at her Hudson river pier near West 50th street today. Four alarms brought fire engines and boats from all sections of Manhattan.

The $60,000,000 liner, now a U. S. Naval auxiliary ship named the Lafayette, was being refitted at her pier.

An estimated 2,500 or 3,000 workmen were aboard when the blaze flared.

Most of them were believed to have escaped down ladders from the bow to the street.

The entire upper deck of the 83,423-ton vessel, third largest merchant ship in the world, was ablaze.

Entire Ship May 'Go Up'
Flames rapidly spread through the length of the 1,209-foot super-liner, eating at the grey-painted superstructure.

Eyewitnesses said it "looks like the entire ship will go up."

Four fireboats pulled into the slip near the liner and began spraying water on the flames. Fire engines on the street also went to work but "the range of their hose lines was ineffective for the after end of the ship."

The fire apparently started on the promenade deck in the center of the salon where a quantity of hemp and many beds were stored. These quickly fed the flames.

Chain Schemes In Mails Fraud

Mails of the country are being flooded with letters relating to so-called endless chain schemes soliciting defense savings stamps, which the office of the solicitor in the Postoffice Department states is illegal.

Sending such matter through the mails is a violation of the postal fraud and lottery statutes.

Notices are served on persons participating in such schemes whose names come to the attention of the Postoffice Department requiring them to show cause why fraud orders should not be issued against them. Such orders forbid the delivery of any mail to the persons named therein.

A fraud order has been issued against a Canadian at Fair Hill, Saskatchewan, Canada, charging violation of this regulation with notification all mail sent to him be returned senders stamped "Fraudulent," and no money orders in favor of said party, should be issued, or certified the solicitor orders.

Postmaster Ed Mullaley thinks the local postoffice has been practically free of any such mail.

WASHINGTON—It's a Justice Department secret, but the tip-off that led to the apprehension of the three Americans who will soon stand trial as Jap propagandists originally came from such widely separated points as Manchuria and Costa Rica.

Last fall U. S. officials in these two countries informed the Justice Department that Nazi agents were distributing pro-Japanese pamphlets, printed in English as well as the native language. It was believed they had been written by an American.

A quiet check-up disclosed, it is charged, that the writer was Ralph Townsend, an editor of Scribner's Commentator.

Further inquiry also revealed that the pamphlets were being widely distributed in the United States. At this point Albert E. Arent and Arthur B. Caldwell, able young attorney of the Criminal Division of the Justice Department who had dug up the facts in the Auhagen and Transocean Nazi propaganda cases, were called in.

Arent and Caldwell made two trips—one to San Francisco and one to Lake Geneva, Wis., where Scribner's Commentator was published. Aided by a staff of crack G-men, Arent and Caldwell uncovered some startling information from the books of Jap firms and individual business men.

One of the most significant discoveries was that the Japs were following the Nazi technique of using newspaper men and writers as propaganda agents. According to testimony which will be presented Frederick V. Williams, a Pacific coast newspaper man, not only was the correspondent of the Japanese Times and Mail of Tokyo, but also was making pro-Jap speeches before many organizations.

A correspondent of the Jap papers, Williams was registered with the State Department and apparently felt this was sufficient.

What the G-men did not overlook was that the Transocean and Auhagen cases had taught them that the favorite axis device was to give their propaganda agents nominal employment as newspaper men to cover up their real operations.

Investigation of Williams' activities led to evidence involving David W. Ryder and Townsend, who with Williams are about to stand trial as Jap agents. The indictments charge the three men with conspiracy to violate the Foreign Agents Registration Act and "with willful failure to state material facts in registration statements."

Maury Maverick's Flag

The flag that flew over the capitol when Congress declared war on all three axis powers—Japan, Germany and Italy—is in the hands of Maury Maverick, former congressman from Texas.

Maverick, who now works for the OPM, exercised a congressman's privilege of buying a new flag to be flown over the capitol. He took it to the capitol late in the afternoon of December 8, and was allowed to make an exchange of his new flag for the flag that had been flying that day, which was the day after Pearl Harbor and the day Congress declared war on Japan.

A few days later, when he heard the president was going to ask for a declaration of war against Germany and Italy, Maverick rushed up to the capitol with his already historic flag, and had it raised on the flag pole just before war was declared against Hitler and Mussolini.

Then he took it away again, and now keeps it as a cherished memento in his own home.

Persistent Fanny

Whatever else she may be charged with, no one can say that Secretary Frances Perkins is not persistent.

Excluded from an important role in the war labor administration, the secretary of labor for months has made repeated undercover attempts to elbow herself into the picture. Invariably she has been rebuffed, but always she has doggedly tried some new maneuver.

Her latest was an ambitious scheme to grab off the war labor division that Sidney Hillman has ably directed since the days of the original National Defense Commission.

Miss Perkins popped her plan shortly after Donald Nelson was named war production chief. Nelson told the president and Hillman that any set-up of the labor division agreeable to them would be agreeable to him. Getting wind of this, Miss Perkins thought she saw a promising chance to stage a blitz snatch for power.

So she quietly prepared an executive order to be signed by the president placing under her control all activities for the supply and training of labor. The effect of the order would have been to strip Hillman's division of its chief functions.

Miss Perkins slipped her order to the Budget Bureau for transmittal to the president. But, meanwhile, Federal Security Administrator Paul McNutt was tipped off what Miss Perkins was up to. McNutt also is ambitious to play a bigger role in the war organization. Unlike Miss Perkins, the white-crested Indian is on good terms with Hillman, but McNutt figured that if Hillman's division was going to be reshuffled, he, too, would put in a strong bid.

So McNutt cooked up an executive order of his own, a little different from Miss Perkins'. He proposed setting up a Labor Supply Board, operating under him. His formula, on the surface, was different but the practical effect would have been the same as the Perkins' scheme.

But like all of Miss Perkins' other attempted grabs for power, this one also got nowhere. The president directed that both proposed executive orders be shelved, while he and Hillman decided what they wanted to do.

Social Security Meddlers

In the past two years repeated efforts have been made on capitol hill to extend the scope and increase the payments of the Social Security Act. But every attempt has got nowhere because of the meddling and bureaucratic sniping of the moguls of the Social Security Board.

Now these moguls are up to their old obstructive tricks—this time regarding the plan to increase unemployment insurance benefits for workers who have been made idle by the all-out war production program.

The plan was drafted by Federal Security Administrator Paul McNutt and War Labor Chief Sidney Hillman, and proposes—during 1942 only—to increase the period of unemployment benefits from 13 to 26 weeks and raise the weekly maximum to $24. President Roosevelt warmly approved the program and recommended to Congress that $300,000,000 be appropriated immediately.

To speed action, the Social Security Board was asked to prepare the necessary bill. This, however, was a sad mistake.

Seeing what they thought was a swell chance to sneak through an extension of their bureaucratic powers, the SSB slipped into the bill a provision placing under their control all state unemployment insurance systems. This was done without consulting either the White House or McNutt and Hillman.

If the SSB had any idea they could get away with this scheme, they soon learned differently. Quickly discovered, it has stirred up a terrific furor among state officials, who are bombarding Congress with irate protests.

As a result, the original McNutt-Hillman unemployment relief proposal has been completely sidetracked. Weeks have gone by and it is still hanging fire in committee while the SSB moguls and state officials battle furiously over the former's attempt to grab off more power.

Meanwhile, thousands walk the streets trying to exist on meager jobless benefits further reduced by the steadily increasing cost of living.

Not "U. S. Bases" In Brazil

The State Department is not advertising it, but Ambassador Caffery has registered a vigorous protest regarding a recent issue of LIFE magazine showing Pan-American Airways bases in Brazil under the caption, "United States Army Bases."

The incident illustrates the extent to which Nazi agents will go to take advantage of any slip by the American press. Also it illustrates how far Brazil has gone in cooperating with the United States for the defense of the hemisphere.

Actually these so-called U. S. Army bases are Brazilian bases, built on Brazilian soil, but developed through Pan-American Airways and to be loaned for the use of American aviators in case of attack on the western hemisphere.

The fact that Brazil was willing to permit their development was considered one of the most forward steps so far taken in the Good Neighbor policy. And there was quite an argument with the Brazilian army before special permission finally was granted.

Therefore, when LIFE magazine captioned them "U. S. Army Bases," as if they were owned lock, stock and barrel by the U. S. A. even though on sovereign Brazilian soil, axis agents had a field day. On the news stands of Rio de Janeiro next day not a single copy of LIFE could be found. They had been bought up by the axis, whose military representatives immediately took them around to their friends in the Brazilian Army.

"The United States," they said, "is the real aggressor. Here is the evidence. It already has bases on your soil. Already it claims them publicly. It will never give them back."

Friendly Foreign Minister Aranha, who originally persuaded the army to accept American co-operation in developing the bases, immediately wrote a letter to Ambassador Caffery. "I was aware," he said, "that Brazil and the United States were good friends. But I was not aware that we had ceded Brazilian territory to the United States."

At a meeting of the board of education Friday night, and at the suggestion of County Commissioner G. L. Coleman, the board decided to offer free scholarships in the Sedalia high school to the pupils who receive the highest grades, competition being open to all schools outside of the city of Sedalia.

There was a pow-wow Saturday afternoon in Sedalia, between several officers of the Anti-Saloon league, and it was officially announced at its conclusion that in a few weeks there will be war in Sedalia, and to the knife. Rev. E. L. Hill, one of the workers, stated that active work will be commenced in Sedalia in the next three weeks, and that the fur will fly.

Harry B. Sennett has resigned as assistant county attorney and has moved from County Attorney Cashman's rooms in the court house to room No. 104 in the Katie building.

R. T. Fleming and his son, Tom, who reside north of the city, have put up sixty tons of eleven and twelve-inch ice during the past few days.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Soul" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 15, 1942.

Golden Text: Isaiah 25:9. Lo, this is our God; we have waited for him, and he will save us: this is the Lord; we have waited for him, we will be glad and rejoice in his salvation.

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Hear, O Israel: The Lord our God is one Lord: And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might" (Deut. 6:4,5).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Spirit is eternal, divine. Nothing but Spirit, Soul, can evolve Life, for Spirit is more than all else. Because Soul is immortal, it does not exist in mortality. Soul must be incorporeal to be Spirit, for Spirit is not finite. Only by losing the false sense of Soul can we gain the eternal unfolding of Life as immortality brought to light" (p.335).

What would you do if—
You sit down to play cards with people you believe are used to playing for more than you can afford to, and they give you a chance to name the stakes—
(a) Say what you're used to playing for?

Barron Wins Western Open

By ROBERT MYERS

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 9.—(P)—The name of Herman Barron, a newcomer to golf fame was added today to a list of illustrious past winners of the 42-year-old western open championship.

To a roll of honor that includes such stars of the game as Hagen, Sarazen, long Jim Barnes, Mac Donald Smith and Chick Evans, the name of this 32-year-old White Plains, N. Y., professional was placed after a sparkling triumph in the tournament finals yesterday.

Leaving the better known pros in an also-ran scramble, Barron wound up his 72-hole climb to the top with rounds of 69-69-71-67-276, which was two strokes better than his nearest competitor, Henry Picard of Oklahoma City.

Lanky E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, Chicago, finished third with 279 and final rounds of 72-70, and Keiser, helping himself to 72 and 74, was one shot back. Lawson Little made a belated last day challenge, with 69-73 for 281, while amateur Johnny Dawson, topped his division with 72-74-282.

The Mangrum brothers, Lloyd and Ray, wound up in a tie at 283, while Chandler Harper, fading back with a last round 78 after a morning of 70, tied with Horton Smith at 284. Horton had 75-68.

Barron won $1,000, his first important money in competition. Thirty-two years old, he's been a professional for 17 years.

Picard won $700, Harrison $500, Keiser $400 and Little $350 in the upper bracket.

The pros go from here to San Antonio for the Texas open February 13-15.

Expects Climb For Athletics

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 9.—(P)—The Philadelphia Athletics who wound up last season in eighth, will finish the coming season in fourth place if they get the breaks and "no worse than fifth no matter what happens."

That's the starry-eyed prediction of Al Simmons, "Old bucket-

Home on the Rangers

foot," who is now a coach for Connie Mack.

Simmons, optimism wasn't shaken by the fact that the Athletics lost their brightest star, outfielder Sam Chapman, and their regular second baseman, Benny McCoy, to the army and navy.

"We hit only a point less than the Yankees last season," he explained, "and we lost a lot of games that a little better pitching might have won. I think our hitting will be as good and our pitching better this year."

"Naturally, losing Chapman is going to hurt plenty. He hit .322 and drove in 106 runs last year, and McCoy was coming along fast and should have had a big year. But we've still got a pretty fair outfield with Bob Johnson, Dee Miles and Mike Kreevich and this young fellow 'Crash' Davis, is a good looking second baseman."

Kreevich, obtained in a midwinter trade from the Chicago White Sox, is one of Simmons' "ifs," along with first baseman Dick Siebert and the club's pitching.

"Siebert," declared Al, "is great. He's a much underrated first baseman who fields brilliantly and hits hard, too."

As for the A's pitching, Sim-

PTA Program At Hughesville

The Hughesville P. T. A. met at the Hughesville school on Wednesday evening. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. B. M. Crago. A long term dental health program has been planned.

Dr. Pearl and Miss Gum said they found that the condition of the teeth in the first four grades in the Hughesville school were far above the average in general dental health.

The following program was given, with Mrs. Harry Meyers as program leader:

TWO DEFENDERS

CHAPTER XXVIII

IT was then that Juddy laughed out loud. It was a queer spot for a laugh. Or was it? There was something sort of triumphant about that laugh.

Maurie Sears went crazy. "Good God! Juddy!" he yelled. His voice dropped to a snarl. "You dirty coward! You've got her there to save you hide."

"That's a lie, Maurie Sears," I said. "Mom, too!" He sort of gasped. But his thought was all for my pal. "You can't stay there," he said, like a man praying. "You can't . . . my sweet. . . Oliver, if you're a man you'll give her to me."

Juddy said, "He can't. I won't go." Maurie whirled around to face the mob. It was inching forward. "Men, there are two ladies in here."

"Let 'em get out. Nobody wants to harm the gals." Doc's voice snapped. "Keep back, there. No further!"

"You can't hold them," Maurie warned him.

I said in Doc's ear, "Ask 'em for 10 minutes to confer on it." He passed it to Maurie, and Maurie put it to the crowd and reported back that they'd stand for five minutes; no more. Back in the darkness a voice was shouting, "Where's those fatwood torches?"

I touched Old Swoby on the shoulder. "Take your coat and pants off," I told him.

I shucked my clothes and got him into them. There was some hay in the corner to fill out the proper curves. Lucky I had on the old, floppy bonnet I usually wear around the camp. That would pretty well hide his face. I made him walk across the floor a couple of times to get the right gait. Then I called Doc. He figured to be the best part of the disguise, being a famous figure in the locality, and everybody knowing he was my watchdog. While I was walking Swoby I outlined what he had to do and prayed God he could do it.

"It's simple," I said. "The only question is whether you've got the guts to carry it through."

"Then I go," he said. "I'm afraid, yes. But I go." "Atta boy!" I patted his shoulder. "Wait till I speak my lines, then walk out there like you was in a hurry but not too much of a hurry. Beat it for the woods."

I OPENED the door and stuck out my head with the bonnet on it.

The crowd gave me a hand. "It's Mom Baumer! In person." "Howdy, Mom." "Make mine a pork barbecue with cawfee."

"Say it, Mom." "I suppose you birds are thinking it's you that are getting me out of here. You couldn't get me out with a cable; I'd see you in hell first. But—well—you all know my little skunk. I gave a yank on the leash and Dolf stuck his nose out. 'I reckon I'd better take him out, as he's in a hurry. O. K. by you?'"

"Sure, Mom!" By the laugh I got I knew it was going all right. "You get your big dogs out of the way." Those bloodhounds didn't fit into my plan at all. That struck them as good sense. They shut the hounds in the woodshed.

I ducked back, handed the leash to Old Swoby, jammed the bonnet down over his ears, and gave him a shove. I figured that nobody in that bunch was going to interfere with a skunk who was in a hurry. Old Swoby was good. He waved his hand and scuttled for the nearest thickets. As he left the crowd heard the voice under the bonnet say,

"Thanks, gents. Back in five minutes." That's what they thought they heard. Juddy and Doc nearly threw a fit. I never told 'em that I'd done a vaudeville turn as a ventriloquist when I was on the stage.

It looked like everything was going to be O. K. Old Swoby would have time to reach the woods. The bloodhounds wouldn't be after him this time. But I wasn't too easy in the old mind when I tried to figure what would happen when they found the game had slipped them.

The moon backed into a cloud. I got the impression of a lot of movement going on outside. The firing started up again. I let off the old pump-gun out the back window, by the way of warning. From what I could make out, Maurie Sears was doing his best to hold them. He called:

"Mom! Juddy! Are you coming out?"

Juddy didn't answer. Maurie was hurrying up and down, now, trying to be everywhere at once. There were scattering shots again. I couldn't see him now. Somebody yelled,

"M. God! They've got Sears!"

"Who did it?"

"One of those rats in there."

THE low mutter went through the crowd and got deeper and savagier, like nothing human. It went down my spine like dripping ice. I knew then it was life-and-death now for Doc anyway, if they thought he fired the shot.

A bunch of them came out of cover and carried something toward the house. Doc opened the door enough for a look-see. Nobody was coming our way. Doc said,

"Juddy!"

She went over to him. "This may seem a queer time to say it. But I don't want you to think that I cheated you."

She put out her hands to him. "Oh, Loren!" she said.

He held out his arms. She came into them as if she belonged there. But it wasn't what she expected. He swung her out through the door and barred it behind her. She turned and beat at the heavy logs like a crazy thing until some young chaps ran up and dragged her away. They looked to me like Welliver boys. O. K. We'd have some friends in the crowd when it came to a showdown.

"I'd do the same to you if I were big enough," he said.

Everything was so quiet outside we could hear them calling from bush to bush.

"Is he dead?"

"As good as. They got him through the lungs."

"I'd hate to be the guy that did it."

"That rat Oliver done it. I seen him draw a bead through the window." That was Bixie Groff.

"Get the fatwood. We'll burn him out and string him up."

"Come on, fellas." That was Bixie again. "What the hell we doodlin' around for? Let's get him."

"Shoot that guy, Doc," I said. "I'm holding my shots," he said.

He kind of laughed. "Come over here and give me a kiss, Mom, and then get out of here. You're no use to me now." What I answered him didn't take much time. "Don't be vulgar, Mom," he said and laughed again.

The torches began coming then, curving through the air and landing on all sides, but most of them short. One rolled under my window and I doused it with a pail of water. Another one, near the corner, I couldn't reach. Smoke began to come up.

Those brave, bloodthirsty lynchers weren't taking any chances with their precious hides. They were possum hunters; burn 'em out and pop 'em down. The smoke was thickening when I heard the prettiest music that ever blessed my old ears. It was the police siren. Two cars came in on the high jump and four husky young cops tumbled out.

Japanese Natives Help Dutch Fight Invaders

IMPORTANT factors in Dutch successes over Jap invaders in the Netherlands East Indies are the small, sturdy natives who have put away tribal dress and donned battle garments in defense of their homes and peaceful way of life.

The stamp above, issued in 1941, pictures a Javanese dancer. Java is one of the larger islands of the Malay archipelago known as the Sundra Islands.

Capital of Java and the Dutch East Indies is Batavia, a city heavily Dutch in flavor but where natives still come to the houses to sell vegetables and other wares.

Javanese—before bombs and shells volcanically disrupted them—led smooth, untroubled lives. Gentle, happy, they have much the same character and attitude toward life as their more publicized neighbors, the Balinese.

The butcher, baker, milkman and flower boy—traveling market people who brought their goods from the country to the housewife's door in the city—are now leading Dutch troops through island thickets.

It's The Law

Americans favor law and order. Step up to the bar and tell the judge what you know about these questions on law and courts. 1. What federal court does the Constitution specifically provide for?

2. Into what two general divisions does law fall?

3. Everyone has heard of the writ of habeas corpus. What are the functions of a writ of mandamus and writ of prohibition?

4. Upon what code of law is most American law founded?

5. Can all federal cases be appealed to the United States Supreme Court?

Nip Advance On The Wheat Market

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—(AP)—With news from Singapore chilling would-be buyers, the grain market today suffered from a restricted trade, and prices moved nervously around previous closing levels. An early attempt to advance, which added fractions to most grains and a cent or more to rye and soybean prices, was nipped in the bud.

Wheat closed unchanged to ¼ cent lower compared with yesterday's finish, May $1.28½ to $1.28¾, July $1.30½ to $1.30¾, corn ¼ to ½ cent higher, May $6¾, July $6¾ to $6¾, oats unchanged to ¼ cent off, rye ¼ to ½ cent higher; soybeans ¼ cent off to ½ cent up.

Rate buying of corn, that lifted prices fractionally, was attributed to brokers representing industrial users.

Wounded As Plane Fired On

GRANITE CITY, Ill., Feb. 9.—(P)—A burst of gun fire ended the first airplane ride of Delbert Henson and 15-year-old Beverly Ann Keith, leaving Henson critically wounded.

He was given several blood transfusions.

The plane was flying near the restricted defense area at Alton, Ill., which houses the vast Western Cartridge company plant.

Soldiers from Jefferson Barracks, Mo., and company police patrol the area. Lieut. J. A. Villhauer, in charge of the army guards, and company officials declined comment.

Army authorities at Jefferson Barracks said merely that a report of the shooting had been sent to Seventh Corps area headquarters at Omaha and an investigation would be made there.

Delbert Richardson, Granite City flying instructor who was piloting the plane, gave this account of the incident:

Henson and Miss Keith, taking their first plane ride, asked him to fly over the girl's home at Alton. He refused because he feared it was too close to the restricted area.

He then turned the plane at an altitude of 1,000 feet at a point he believed was eight or 10 miles from the restricted zone.

As he banked, the first of seven shots hit the ship. One pierced Henson's hip and stomach. Another penetrated the gasoline tank, forcing Richardson to switch to an emergency supply.

Henson slumped against Miss Keith groaning. Richardson, fearing another salvo, decided against an emergency landing despite his passenger's injuries and flew his crippled ship back to the airport.

Big Gun in the Big Woods

Hidden in the tall timber of our Pacific northwest, one of the Army's heavy mobile guns stands guard over the approaches to a vital U. S. industrial area. It is symbolic of the vast, secret defense system protecting shipyards, aircraft factories and other war industries in America's northwest corner.

Loss of Over A Million In Fire

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 9.—(P)—The city's most destructive fire in 18 years ravaged a large block of business buildings and homes last night and early today, causing damage firemen said would exceed $1,000,000.

A woman spectator—one of nearly 50,000 who crowded into the thickly populated area at Columbia and Ridge avenues—said she saw a "teen-age boy" plunge from a rooftop into the flames when a wall collapsed, but police reported no one was missing.

Four buildings were destroyed and 13 others were damaged before the swift-spreading flames were brought under control.

Approximately 200 persons—most of them firemen—were treated at the scene. Eleven persons were taken to hospitals. Most seriously hurt was a fireman who received a broken back and crushed foot.

The man said he obtained log chains, wrapped her with them, drove to Calton and placed her body in the river.

Well's said there were no marks on the body except those caused by the chains.

The sheriff said the man told him he had known the girl for a long time and had attempted to befriend her, but denied he had any personal relations with her. Well's added that the man was being held without charge pending completion of the investigation.

One fine field nearly two miles long was discovered and Red sappers cut five lanes through it. At another point, the Russians said they extracted 2,600 anti-tank mines buried beneath the snow.

Despite these and other obstacles, the Russians swept three more Donets villages clear of the Nazis.

Eighteen other populated places were captured on the central front as the Reds pressed toward Smolensk. Heavy artillery was said to have destroyed ten German planes on the ground near the front lines.

While front line news was scarce, dispatches told of rear line destruction by the Red army from Sevastopol to the northwest sector beyond Kalinin.

Russian scouts slipped through heavy German lines at one point and blew up an anti-tank post killing ten Germans.

In the past four days, Sevastopol artillery and planes have smashed nine Nazi artillery batteries.

That description, augmented by the statement she was "an elegant nurse," was given yesterday by hospital Superintendent Louise M. Wagner as Irma Twiss, 32, herself in tears, was formally accused of homicide in the death of the infant and also accused of feeding the narcotic to another.

"The babies' constant crying drove me crazy," Miss Twiss was quoted by Assistant District Attorney Martin Kraus as saying before being jailed without bail for a hearing Wednesday.

Kraus said the slim, brunette nurse had admitted she was held four days for observation in Bellevue hospital's psychopathic ward in November, 1940, after she had taken an overdose of sleeping tablets.

He added that she had returned to the Bronx institution three months ago after having received

Chained Body Put In River

ARKADELPHIA, Ark., Feb. 9.—(P)—An autopsy was ordered today to determine what caused the death of 19-year-old Mary Bell Furlow, whose chain-bound scantily-clad body was recovered by officers last night from the Ouachita river at Calton, 65 miles southwest of here.

Sheriff Bill Wells said he and other officers were directed to the spot where the body of the pretty bookkeeper was found in 25 feet of water by a 37-year-old man. The man, Wells added, told them he placed it there after the girl died on Grindstone mountain near here a week ago following an attempted self operation.

"He said she died within 15 minutes but before she died she asked him to dispose of her body," the sheriff said.

"The man said he obtained log chains, wrapped her with them, drove to Calton and placed her body in the river."

Well's said there were no marks on the body except those caused by the chains.

He added that she had returned to the Bronx institution three months ago after having received

Physicians held out some hope for the second baby today, although it was in dangerous condition.

Neither Mrs. Castro Valle, 33, mother of the dead child, nor Mrs. Fred Fantagone, 34, mother of the other baby—a four-day-old girl—were informed of their infants' fate.

Siegfried Line Builder Killed
BERLIN, (From German Broadcasts), Feb. 9.—(P)—Major General Fritz Todt, who literally paved the way for Adolf Hitler's armies, has been killed on the eastern front.

With wide, black bands of mourning, the German press told its readers today that the famed Todt was killed in an air accident yesterday "while carrying through his military tasks in the east."

He was 50 years old.

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts) Feb. 9.—(P)—Maj. Gen. Fritz Todt, builder of the Siegfried line and until now in supreme charge of the engineering of German defenses on the Russian front, has been killed in what is officially described as "an air accident when carrying through his military tasks."

He was a close collaborator of Adolf Hitler's since the very beginning of the Nazi movement and also was minister of munitions. His gigantic operations earned him the unofficial title of "Germany's No. 1 builder." He had been on the eastern front since the beginning of the campaign against Russia.

As director of all German construction, Maj. Gen. Todt was the builder of the German defenses which the Russians have been smashing for two months.

Sees Chance For Power By Reds

BRISTOL, Feb. 9.—(P)—Sir Stafford Cripps, former British ambassador to Moscow, told an audience today that if the United Nations were victorious the Soviet Union would be the strongest European power and "they are likely to end the war sitting in Berlin."

There is a great deal to be admired in Communism, Cripps said, but "much as I admire many of the policies of the Soviet Union I think we shall make a much better job of reconstruction in Europe if we have a share in it as well."

Sir Stafford said he was convinced the Russians had no desire to interfere with other European governments.

"They have an immense task of their own," he continued, "and with the devastation of millions of acres and hundreds of towns their task is going to be all the greater."

He spoke for the second consecutive day before Bristol audiences. Previously he had said that Germany's defeat within a year was possible but that it depended on American and British help for the Russians.

In two addresses yesterday, Cripps stressed the urgency for Britain to increase her war production and cast off a complacency he said he had noticed since his return from Russia a few weeks ago.

"There now stands between Hitler and a certain and not too delayed defeat," Cripps said in a broadcast, "the chance that he may be strong enough to renew his offensive."
